

Protected an elderly widow from exploitation by deceptive neighbors who attempted to gain control of her assets

January 1, 2008

Preserved an elderly widow from exploitation by deceptive neighbors who attempted to gain control of her assets during the period of her husband's hospice care by having the husband sign legal documents. Through aggressive intervention, thwarted the neighbors' plans, removed them from influence and control of the widow, and set up a team of collaborating professionals to assist with her financial management and care needs. Restored her dignity and preserved her independence.
